Artillery Shells Rock Homes After Ammunition Freight Derails, Burns

Lewis, Ind., (AP)—Residents of this shell-rocked village wandered among their windowless homes yesterday and marveled that they were all alive.

Exploding artillery shells from three ammunition cars on a derailed and burning freight train rained fire on the town for five hours Saturday night. More than a dozen buildings burned, and scarcely one was left undamaged.

Only two persons were hospitalized. Thirteen others were treated for cuts and bruises.

Gutted freight cars lay in a twisted mass around a crater 60 feet wide and 30 feet deep.

A 10-man Army demolition squad was sent here to remove the war-blasted from several hundred unexploded shells scattered about the scene. Observers kept well away from the shells, which included 155mm Howitzer ammunition.

The survival of the 300 residents of the town in the face of such devastation appeared to be due to two factors.

The blast occurred a quarter of a mile from the town itself, and most of the people were gathered at the Masonic Building on the far side of the town for an Eastern Star installation. The Masonic Building, its broken windows boarded up, quickly became disaster headquarters.

The Red Cross listed nine houses, and four barns as destroyed and 54 houses damaged. It said 84 families were affected. Two buildings in the small business section were destroyed.

It was impossible to count the number of freight cars in the burned wreckage, but the Chicago-Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad reported 24 cars were unaccounted for.

The two persons hospitalized were Dan Lyons, 82, who lost an eye, and Pat Stevens, 80, who suffered cuts and shocks.

Marines Chop Down Chinese

Seoul, Monday, (AP)—U. S. Marines and aillery chopped up Chinese Red attack Sunday in the Western Front 30 miles north of Seoul as the Communists "let out" spring drive toward a week of bloody fighting.

In the air, Sabre jet pilots reported shooting down four MIG-15s and damaging a fifth while boosting the total of U. N. jet ace pilots with five or more Red kills to 31. No. 30 was Lt. Col. George L. Jones of Vero Beach, Fla.

Lt. 1st Marine Division fighters, back firmly atop Vegas Outpost after being knocked off three times, capped a wild Sunday of fighting by beating off 700 Chinese attack from three directions just after dark.

The Leathernecks had won back the hill at dawn Sunday after 10 hours of combat during which they killed nearly half of an attacking force of 1,600 Chinese.

The Reds massed for another attack last night but it was broken off before it could get under way by what the Marines call "box" machine gun fire. The technique involves dropping shells between them and the Reds and also between them and their own support forces in the rear. The latter fire guards against Red infiltration.

The three-pronged Chinese thrust at Vegas—in the Bunker Hill area north of Seoul—was made after Red gunners laid down 15 minutes of artillery and mortar fire.

Entrenched Marines threw up light flares, turned on searchlights and called for supporting artillery fire. Less than two hours after the Chinese jumped off, they had to fall back.

Late Sunday night after Marine artillery broke up massing Chinese, Communist artillery and mortar fire was poured on Vegas at a rate of one round every three seconds. It tapered off shortly before midnight.

Lt. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, U. S. Eighth Army Commander, said his forces can expect more thrusts such as those around Bunker Hill.

Look For Red Gimmicks In Prisoner Deal

Fear Of Trap For Armistice Talk Pressure

Tokyo, Monday, (AP)—Tight-lipped United Nations Command officials spent all Sunday mulling over any possible gimmicks in the surprising Communist agreement to trade sick and wounded Korean War prisoners.

What concerned the U. N. Command most of all was the Communist Red suggestion for immediate reopening of truce talks at Panmunjom.

Gen. Mark Clark doesn't want his officers to go back there needlessly for more months of the wrangling which characterized the discussions since they first began in July, 1951.

As in the past, Clark relayed the Red message to Washington. Now he's waiting for instructions from cautious policy-makers who have had their fingers burned in the past by apparently genuine Communist proposals for peace.

When Clark does send his answer, it probably will go as a letter carried by UNC liaison officers to Panmunjom, and perhaps be read over the armed forces radio, as Gen. Matthew Ridgway used to do.

The message probably will suggest a date for a meeting of liaison officers to discuss the exchange of selling prisoners. And then the UNC will await the Red reply.

When the liaison officers meet, they would have to settle just what is meant by the phrase "seriously sick and seriously injured, wounded prisoners of war of both sides"—a question that could entail long discussion.

The cautious view taken in Tokyo and Washington was reflected in other world capitals. At New Delhi, where newspapers banner-lined the Red offer, government officials said privately:

"We must wait and see. The world has been disappointed too often already."

Clark and his staff were studying two questions raised by the Communist message:

One—Is reopening of the armistice talks on a formal basis necessary before sick and wounded can be traded?

Two—Or can liaison officers alone work out the details of this exchange?

The truce talks broke up last October over Communist rejection of a UNC proposal to let all POWs decide if they want to go home after an armistice.

Will Discuss Air Incidents

London, (AP)—Britain accepted Sunday a Russian proposal to sit down at the conference table in Berlin Tuesday to thrash out ways of preventing air incidents over Germany.

A government statement said this date was proposed by Gen. Vassily I. Chukov, Soviet commander-in-chief in Germany, and accepted by Britain. Some here regarded the Soviet proposal as another move in the current Kremlin "peace offensive."

The meeting is a sequel to the shooting down of an unarmed RAF Lincoln bomber by Soviet MIG-15 fighters over the air corridor between West Germany and Berlin 17 days ago. The corridor to Berlin runs over Soviet territory, since West Berlin is an Allied island deep in the Russian zone. Seven British crewmen of the bomber perished in the shooting.

The Foreign Office said yesterday the Tuesday meeting will involve only British and Russian representatives, but the British government will keep in close touch with the U. S. and French governments during the talks.

Tax, Economy Issues Will Clash In General Assembly With Report On Tax Matter

Harrisburg, (AP)—The tax and economy issues finally catch up with each other this week in Pennsylvania's General Assembly.

A long-awaited report on the tax situation will be submitted to the Legislature today. It will join the Chesterman Economy Committee report, which was handed to the Assembly several weeks ago.

The tax report, prepared by a committee named by Gov. John S. Fine, was expected to list a dozen levies as available for state taxation, but without recommending any of them.

The levies expected to be listed include such taxes as personal incomes, sales, head tax on adults, soft drinks, cigars, amusements, pari-mutuel betting, unincorporated businesses, meals, hotel rooms, gas and electric bills and telephone and telegraph bills.

The tax study committee, headed by Alfred G. Buehler, University of Pennsylvania fiscal expert, prepared its report after a year-long study of the commonwealth's financial situation, and tax policies of other states.

The tax report goes to the Legislature on the 15th week of the 1953 session, which opened in January. The Assembly has yet to pass its first bill. Each branch has passed some legislation but none has yet won approval of both House and Senate.

With the tax roadblock removed through submission of the tax report, the GOP leadership is planning to start three-day sessions after the Easter holiday period. So far the Legislature has been meeting only on Monday and Tuesday.

The big question before the Legislature is balancing the state's $1,400,000,000 budget for the 1953-55 biennium, either with 157 million dollars of new taxes, or economy cuts for that amount, or a combination of both.

The Chesterman committee estimated in its report, if adopted, could save the commonwealth 100 millions by 1960 and that a savings of 20 millions could be accomplished this year by legislative action and an additional 15 million by administrative action. Those estimates have been disputed by individual legislators.

Fifteen Chesterman economy bills go before the Senate this week for debate, which is expected to be prolonged. They include bills to abolish the Internal Affairs and Commerce Departments and the State Milk Control Commission.

The tax report is expected to explore the possibilities of both a sales and income tax but both the administration and legislative leaders forecast that neither levy could rally a majority vote for passage.

J. Edgar Hoover Balks At FBI Loyalty Probe Roles

Washington, (AP)—Director J. Edgar Hoover wants to get his FBI out of the uncomfortable business of summarizing its findings in loyalty and security investigations of presidential nominees.

Testifying before a Senate appropriations subcommittee in a closed session, Hoover was said by two members to have contended that a new system adopted at the request of the Eisenhower administration may subject the FBI to future criticism that it is biased.

The system was used when the FBI prepared its own summary of its agents' reports in the case of Charles E. "Chip" Bohlen, confirmed by the Senate Friday to be ambassador to Moscow.

Previously the FBI had made its agents' reports available to the attorney general or an aide, who then made a summary for the White House or for department heads.

This freed the FBI of even remote responsibility for evaluating the information it had collected, and kept its agents' reports from getting outside the Justice Department.

Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) told the Senate during the Bohlen debate that sometimes these summaries, prepared by an assistant attorney general, omitted pertinent information he found in reading the agents' reports.

Under an arrangement with the FBI, the agents' reports were made available to the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, a position then held by McCarran, in the committee's inquiry into judgeship appointments.

Members said Hoover told the appropriations subcommittee he was asked by the new administration to write the summaries on Cabinet appointments.

It was explained that the new attorney general, Herbert Brownell, didn't want to participate in inquiries involving his Cabinet colleagues.

The system was extended to cover the Bohlen nomination and Hoover was represented as expressing the hope that he will not be required to write any further summaries of that nature.

Passover Meditation

By Rabbi Maurice Idell
Temple Israel, East Stroudsburg

"I am the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the House of Bondage." Exodus 20:2

"Thou who art the breath of life, who created all men alike in dignity, thy power is manifest in the destiny of nations. Thou makest nations great; Thou bringest nations low; Thou givest freedom even unto the beast and winged fowl; Thy will it is that all mankind be free."

"Proclaim liberty throughout the Land unto all the inhabitants thereof."—Leviticus 25:10

We who know the sweet delights of liberty, yet look upon ourselves in every age as if we too, had once been Pharaoh's slaves, can feel the bitterness of those oppressed. Ours, then, the task to loose all fetters, break all bonds, and bring men out of slavery.

"Every man shall sit under his vine and under his fig tree, and none shall make him afraid."—Isaiah

May the day soon dawn, we pray, that day of liberty, when every shackles forged by man is loosed to set him free, when serfdom's yoke is broken, every Pharaoh humbled low, when every man shall take his brother's hand and lovingkindness show, when all are free from poverty and fear and are free to worship Thee.

For then, Thy children everywhere shall live in accord, and no more will the wanderer need his staff nor the warrior his sword.

O, may we never weary nor cease to work for a blessed world where all men shall live in peace.
Amen.

Only 25 Live In Nursing Institution

Largo, Fla. (AP)—Thirty-three persons—a heroic nurse and 32 elderly patients—perished yesterday in a pre-dawn blaze that raced through a private nursing home.

Many of the patients were so senile that, childlike, they refused to leave their warm beds. Their charred, unidentified bodies remained in the twisted frames of their beds for eight hours.

Of the 57 at the Littlefield Nursing Home, only 25 escaped. Ages of the patients ranged from 55 to 94.

All but three of the victims were women—mental cases, many too old for admission to the state hospital. Others were old age pensioners and other elderly persons who needed special attention.

Most of the dead were from Florida but there were some from outside the state.

All that was left of the 185-foot long white one-story frame structure was a mass of smoke-black metal—bedsteads, kitchenware, bedpans, wheelchairs. Flame-shrouded grapefruit hung from the branches of trees in the pretty little grove that surrounds the home.

The home is located three miles outside Largo, a tourist and farming center about 15 miles north of St. Petersburg just off the Gulf of Mexico coast.

The home had been in operation for about 10 years. The main building housed women patients and a few men. That is where all the deaths occurred. Connected by a passageway was a small men's dormitory where 13 slept. All escaped. Also nearby was a small cottage housing other patients.

The heroic nurse was tall, black-haired Mrs. Gertrude Warnick, 55. She rescued one patient, ran in for another and was never seen alive after that.

Men futilely used small fire extinguishers on the raging flames. Nurses and officials of the home aroused sleeping inmates and tried valiantly to carry ill persons from the building.

Another man was killed in an automobile collision, while driving one of the patients to a hospital. Angus Smith, Pinellas County welfare director, was the victim in the crash.

The scene of the disaster was grim. Weeping relatives were going from cluster to cluster of persons asking if their loved ones had been saved. An occasional can of food in the ashes of the home exploded, startling the crowd.

The fire started in an area of the kitchen and supply room. It spread through the main dormitory for women—where all the deaths occurred—then leaped to a smaller building where 13 men were staying.

Tales of bravery were numerous. Mrs. Aletha Herring, a part-time nurse at the home, related that W. L. Littlefield, operator of the home, dashed repeatedly into the burning building bringing out patients.

Mrs. Herring, who herself rescued several patients, said on one occasion Littlefield "picked up two at one time, one weighing about 300 pounds. I don't know how he did it."

Apparently first word of the fire came from a woman patient.

John F. Beecher, 57, and a retired Air Corps captain, related "I heard a scream and I recognized it was a woman's voice. I believed she called for help."

Other inmates related how Littlefield and his wife ran about the building knocking on window panes and doors telling everyone to leave the building.

Patients also helped rescue their fellows.

William Hardin, 76, told how he pulled out one man who had to use two canes to walk.

Hardin related how he left the burning men's dormitory and heard a voice saying "William, help me. Help me." Hardin said he took the man to safety.

Hardin was the one who said the blaze "just went through that building like they were burning dry straw."

Traffic Survey Shows More Than 13,000 Vehicles Leave Boroughs On Average Day

(This is fourth and last in a series of articles on traffic congestion in the Stroudsburg area, based on information in a survey conducted by State Department of Highways.)

By Leonard Randolph

On an average weekday in August, 1951 traffic department observers counted a total of 13,281 outbound vehicle trips from metropolitan Stroudsburg.

Each vehicle "trip" crossed one of the 11 stations (or more) set up by counters to measure internal and external traffic movement. Each trip was moving away from Stroudsburg.

Of this total, 3,057 of the trips were made for work purposes, while 2,024 had been on "business."

Leading the field were the 5,908 vehicle trips made for "social recreation."

An additional 1,088 trips were made for "shopping."

Purposes of remaining trips were listed as medical-dental, school, eating, passenger service, vehicle service and overnight stops.

To obtain this information, Planning and Traffic Division workers, at request of Borough Council, set up a "cordon" extending around Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg.

The cordon followed borough limit lines, approximately. It covered all major traffic arteries moving into and out of the two boroughs.

Principal objectives of the "external survey" in which counters noted all trips moving beyond the boroughs, were to "determine the total number and character of all vehicles entering and leaving the survey area and the origin and destination of trips made by vehicles."

For the "internal survey" counters had as their purpose the detection of trips into or out of the downtown business district in Stroudsburg. These trips began and ended within the cordon line.

At the 11 "external" checking points, trucks made up 17.6 percent of all traffic passing, with a total 5,646 counted.

Of this total 55 percent were local trucks on local business while the remaining 45 percent were "through" traffic.

At station number 6, located at the bottom (Stroudsburg side) of Foxtown Hill on Route 611, trucks accounted for 24 percent of total traffic volume.

Of this percentage only 12 percent were of local origin while the remaining 88 percent came from out of the area engaged in "through" traffic.

(A total of 2,064 trucks passed across the checking point on an average weekday.)

Station 6 also led the field in percentage of "through" traffic for vehicles of all kinds.

On Route 611 entering Stroudsburg, counters found 6,656 or 77.3 percent of all traffic to be going through. At Station 2 on Lackawanna Trail 56.3 percent of all traffic was "through" traffic.

Any "through" trip passing through two stations was included in totals as only one trip, the survey says.

No effort was made by Planning and Traffic Division experts in issuing their report on traffic congestion to offer solutions to existing traffic problems.

Publication of the survey by Department of Highways brings to a close the traffic investigation requested by Stroudsburg's council.

In the body of the report, experts confirm local residents in their belief that a "serious traffic congestion" problem exists in the Stroudsburg area.

State's report puts a finger on two major traffic trouble spots in the twin boroughs—the interchange bridge crossing and Stroudsburg's Main St.

Minor congestion problems exist on N. Courtland St. and other small streets throughout both boroughs.

Lack Of Funds Stalls Road Jobs

Harrisburg, UP—Engineers have the "know-how" and contractors the skills and equipment to build much-needed new highways in Pennsylvania—but the money is lacking, says E. L. Schmidt, state highways secretary.

Despite the ever-present need for new roads, Schmidt told the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Council of Carpenters, the commonwealth's highway system is in "far better shape" than at any time since World War II.

"In 1952, the Pennsylvania Department of Highways completed the largest construction program in the history of the commonwealth," Schmidt declared.

State Employment Service Moves To Aid Student Employment

Aptitude Test Taken At Schools

A step toward aiding high school students gain employment after June graduation has been taken by the local office, Pennsylvania State Employment Service.

Aptitude tests to determine in which field the student is best qualified were given to 36 senior pupils at Stroudsburg High School, rounding out the year's program that previously saw completion of similar test in East Stroudsburg.

Miss Isabelle Finn, test administrator for the East Stroudsburg PSES office was assisted by Miss Marguerite Meinerz and Rudolph Koenig, of the district office, Stroudsburg had the assistance of Miss Irene Getz in presenting the tests.

At East Stroudsburg High School in January the administrators gave examinations to 42 senior students in the second year program under PSES auspices. It was indicated that efforts are being made to extend the service to senior students in other district high schools, but this year's work is finished.

As explained by Miss Finn, with high school graduation just around the corner many boys and girls are anticipating a new experience in seeking jobs. The tests were given those students who have not already decided on continued education and those who have no definite field of endeavor in mind.

Results of the tests are expected to show which field the student is best qualified to man and talks with PSES counselors in the immediate future will help the pupil on a new road to employment.

Lists of graduates with potential ability to succeed in certain fields of work with proper on-the-job training will be mailed after computation to area manufacturers and business people to help them find the person they need in furthering their enterprise.

The reference to employers shows the students aptitude test results, expressed interests, leisure time activities, extra-curricular work, school marks, part-time employment and other phases to complete the vocational plan.

Carl Denz, acting manager of the East Stroudsburg PSES office said, "To the best of our knowledge this is the first concentrated effort locally to help graduates select a suitable field and to catalogue results for employers' use." He urges in letters to employers "you may have vacancies now, or in the future, for which you would consider high school graduates. We will be glad to assist you in your selection by referring those having potential abilities or aptitudes required for your jobs."

Various tests were given the students, including written and oral examinations, and peg-board manipulative work to determine finger dexterity.

Results of the tests are paired to 20 different fields of endeavor which contain 2,000 occupations, giving the student a wide selection from which to choose.

Slayers Awaiting Execution

Bellefonte, Pa.—Two convicted Westmoreland County slayers counted off the minutes last night, awaiting the hour of their execution at Rockview State Prison.

The two, Dominick Daverse, 40, and Joseph Stevenson Phillips, 23, were due to pay the supreme penalty in the electric chair shortly after midnight—12:30 a.m.

A last-minute effort to obtain a stay for Daverse failed Saturday when Justice Harold H. Burton, of the U. S. Supreme Court in Washington, rejected a petition by S. V. Albo, Daverse's attorney.

The court appeal was the last of a long series of moves in state and federal courts on behalf of Daverse, who was granted 17 reprieves from time to time after his conviction in 1947.

He was sentenced to death in the pistol death of his wife, Theresa, as she stepped off a bus at Greensburg on April 11, 1947.

Phillips was convicted last August 15 in the slaying of Morton Crain, a night watchman, in an attempted robbery at the McFeely Brick Company plant in Derry Township, Westmoreland County.

The State Pardons Board two weeks ago rejected appeals by both Daverse and Phillips to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment.

Feast Of Passover Begins At Sunset Today, Services Listed For Temple Israel

By Leonard Randolph

Sunset today marks the beginning of Passover—the feast of freedom. For millions of the world's inhabitants, it is a time of singing and deep, joyful religious significance.

Most dramatic of the year's Jewish festivals, Passover derives its name and customs from the incident in which God took vengeance on all first-born sons of Egypt.

It was the last of a series of "Ten Great Plagues."

As Egypt's homes were struck down by God, so were the homes of Jews "passed over" in the sense that none was touched, no damage was done.

Hence the name for the holiday, "Passover," in direct reference to God's mercy toward his chosen people.

Passover commemorates, also, the mass exodus of the Jewish people from Egypt and their deliverance from slavery under the Pharaohs.

The flight from Egypt was a frantic, hurried and desperate escape. Few preparations had been made for the exodus.

In keeping with this fact of religious history, one of the primary customs of Passover is the use of unleavened bread throughout the week-long festival.

This year, Passover extends from today, March 30 through Tuesday, April 7.

Most ceremonies of the week have as their focal point the Seder, a symbolic dinner held on the first two nights.

Preparations of the Seder involve the use of a series of symbolic foods as well as traditional ritual.

First of these foods is "matzo." Three cakes of this unleavened bread are used for the beginning of the meal.

Bitter herbs—unseasoned horseradish or lettuce—symbolize the bitterness of slavery before deliverance.

A third dish, "charoseth," consists of cinnamon, nuts and chopped apple, moistened with wine and combined into a paste symbolic of mortar with which Jews were forced to make bricks for the Egyptians.

This forced labor is one of the greatest sadnesses contained in the long, migratory history of the Jews. It is a part of captivity which drove Jewish workers, by deliberate imprisonment and bondage, to the erection of buildings for their captors while they, themselves were left without a nation of their own.

Those chains which bound the Jews under Egyptian rule were to return again and again under other nations, at other times, until the resurgence of their own customs and religion could be transplanted to the soil in which it had first flourished.

Today, many foods used during Passover are commercially prepared and packaged as are specific foods and articles used in other religious holidays.

In the Seder, roasted egg follows the "charoseth" in order. It is symbolic of ancient offerings made during centuries past and is followed by the shankbone of a lamb, part of the Paschal sacrifice.

Throughout the Seder, symbolic.

LITTLE TALKS WITH BIG THOUGHTS

I was looking through a beautiful old leather-bound Bible the other day. A Bible that had been in one family since 1634. Throughout the entire Bible was a running record of the family. Down the margins, at the top and bottom of the pages were written their joys and their sorrows; their births and their deaths; their everyday occurrences as they had lived them through the years.

Somewhere remarked: "Wasn't that a shame, to desecrate such a beautiful book?"

Perhaps that is the answer to why today our Bibles do not mean so much to us. We look at the beauty of the binding, the paper, the type. We revere its material beauty and place it with great care in our bookcases, instead of making it an integral part of our daily life and its contents a part of our very existence, as our forefathers did.

Delayed Licenses

Failure to complete the manufacture of 1953 automobile licenses in time for their distribution to Pennsylvania owners before Tuesday night's deadline reveals an inexcusable lack of efficiency in the State Department of Revenue, which is charged with the duty of automotive licensing.

Secretary of Revenue Otto Messner, in announcing that car owners who have sent in their applications and checks will receive temporary authority to continue operation of their vehicles, is quoted as declaring that the manufacturer of 1953 motor vehicle registration plates has not been able to deliver sufficient numbers before April 1.

The taxpaying public would like to know the answer to this foul-up of the supposedly efficient system. Many months go by between the manufacture of plates for any one year and the resumption of manufacture for the following year, and since they are made by prisoners of the Western State Penitentiary it is difficult to see why there should be any delay.

Weak indeed is the suggestion that the January riots in the Western jail contributed materially to the delay in plate production. Surely those in charge of such matters, which we presume includes continuing direction and inspection by the Department of Revenue, do not wait until a few months before tags are due to begin stamping them out.

Let's have a better excuse than that of blaming the prisoners in the Western Penitentiary for the failure to get the licenses in users' hands before this week. Perhaps more executive efficiency is indicated.

Expanded Operations

Introduction of a bill in the House to appropriate $20,000 to the State Farm Show Commission for the purchase and maintenance of a floor for the big Farm Show Arena in Harrisburg is another step in the proposed expansion of operations in the huge state-owned installation built primarily for the annual exhibit of farm products in the capital city.

Rep. Nolan Ziegler of Dauphin County, who with Reps. Robert Ogilvie and Clarence Stoner was the co-sponsor of the bill, took cognizance of the increasing public insistence that the big hall be utilized more efficiently through addition of equipment permitting its operation for indoor athletic events such as basketball tournaments.

Certainly there can be no disagreement with the argument that it is economically unsound for such an expensive building as the Farm Show Arena to stand idle most of the time, and it can be additionally contended that such athletic events as are proposed would add materially to a reduction of operating costs.

There should be no double-talking avoidance of the issue which, after all, is primarily whether the capital city is to be given utilization of a tax-provided state building or whether private capital is to continue to dominate the indoor sports picture.

The Once Over —by H. L. Phillips

EPITAPH FOR THE RFC

("The RFC is to be allowed to die next year." News item.)

Here lies RFC. No friends attending. There's no one here... HE ISN'T LENDING!

The Salesman Clinic —Manufacturers are holding "salesman" clinics in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Dallas and other cities, with the explanation "For years we have been concentrating on production; now the time has come to concentrate on selling." (Ya mean a salesman should act as if he really cared?)

H. E. Humphreys, a vice-president of the National Manufacturers Association, announces the clinic, and we suggest the following program:

1. The Case of the Lethargic Salesroom Attache. Very common in all parts of the U.S.A. Is showing only a slight improvement over last fifteen years of Chronic Indifference. Barely looks up when a customer enters and gets out of chair only when there is no other way out of the situation. Yawns while quoting prices. Doesn't bother to take name, address or phone number. Seems to have all the characteristics of a displaced bird watcher. This character will be analyzed in detail and submitted to the I.Q. (Indolently Quiet) test. Suggestions will be invited.

2. The In-Due-Time Specimen. Found in many stores and showrooms. Gets paid as a salesman but devotes his life to manifesting indifference to presence of strangers under the same roof. Pays no attention to footsteps, ignores coughs and sneezes at taps on showcase or counter. Is lost in thought and doesn't want to be found. May ultimately look at customer, but eyes will convey only the message, "How did you get in?" Clinic will experiment with the new plastic knob which can be inserted into human body for defrosting purposes.

3. —The Cancha-See-Tin-Busy Type. Always seems to be hard at work with pencil and paper when a customer approaches. Flits hither and thither making additional notes and talking to self. Attention can be gained only by determined pursuit or an ambush. If you want to buy something at the fishing tackle counter he hides under a canoe fifteen yards away or vice versa. Apparently wants to be alone. (The clinic will conduct experiments to see if it is something he ate.)

4. —The Hit-and-Run Salesman. Covers route by auto because it permits him to leave home later and get back sooner. Makes most of his stops at taverns, lunchrooms and hot dog wagons, although they handle nothing he sells. Blames his poor sales sheet on the gas, the carburetor, the traffic snarls and vague detour signs. Took first job as salesman under New Deal and has no idea times have changed. (Clinic will probably have to operate.)

New York's subway fare is certain to get another boost, making it tough for those who now will have to find a way to treble their production of slugs. . . . "The Greatest Show On Earth" won the Oscar as the best picture of 1952 after quite a battle. . . . It seems a couple of judges held out so sublimely that the elephants had to be called in to budge them. . . . A Colorado man and wife, each 80 years of age, have just been divorced, the wife winning it on cruelty allegations. . . . He threatened to strike her if he were 23 years younger. . . . A Sarah Lawrence College professor swore before a Senate Committee that he was not a member of the Communist Party of Friday but refused to say whether he was one on Thursday. . . . We await determination of his stand on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Man-To-Man Views Exchange With Reds Desire Of Ike

Washington — President Eisenhower once met Malenkov and is willing to sit down and talk things over personally with him. However, there are no plans as yet for such a meeting. Also, the President doesn't know whether there ever will be any. But he does think that a man-to-man exchange of views is desirable with the new Russian Premier.

Authority for all this is the President himself.

He disclosed it at a White House luncheon with a group of House members. Representative Charles W. Vorse (R-Ill.) asked the President's opinion of the late Stalin's successor.

"You know," the President replied, "I met Malenkov once. It didn't amount to more than being introduced to him, but I recall the occasion. It occurred when I was in Moscow after the end of the war. Stalin presented a group of the top Kremlin leaders, and Malenkov was one of them. As I recall, while he was in this upper echelon, he didn't appear to be in the front rank at that time. Other than this very brief meeting, I know nothing more about him than what I have read since he became Premier."

"What about a personal meeting with him?" asked Representative Omar Burdson (D-Tex.). "Would you be willing to do that?"

"Yes, I would," said the President firmly. "I think it is a good idea and I'm for it. I have always believed that the best way to establish and maintain good relations between countries is through personal contact and understanding by the leaders of those countries. That is sound practice in other fields, and there is no reason it shouldn't be equally successful in the all-important sphere of foreign affairs."

"Is anything in the offing for a meeting with Malenkov?" asked Representative Clark Thompson (D-Tex.), Marine Corps veteran. "No," said the President, "there is nothing in the works on that yet. But, as I said, I'm willing to sit down and talk things over with him whenever it can be satisfactorily arranged. I intend to know them all, including the Russians."

Others at the luncheon were Representatives John Lyle (D-Tex.), Lloyd Bentsen (D-Tex.), Dwight Rogers (D-Ill.), William Hill (R-Colo.) and H. R. Gross (R-Ia.). Note: The President has discussed meeting Malenkov with Secretary of State Dulles. His view is that it would be inadvisable until the European Army is actually in process of formation; otherwise, the laboriously worked out defense plan may not be realized.

Big Improvement — Defense Secretary Charles Wilson is learning — and fast at that.

His second appearance before a Senate committee was a lot different and far more successful than his first, which resulted in a barrage of brickbats and head-aches.

Wilson's greatly-improved performance was before the Senate Banking Committee, which wanted his views on the desirability of enacting a stand-by wage and price control law. He was friendly and frank and got along well with the legislators.

Finally, as he prepared to leave, Senator Irving Ives (R-N.Y.) asked, "You've been in the Pentagon now for several months; do you think the government can be run like big business?"

"No, I don't," replied Wilson thoughtfully. "There are too many sacred cows."

There was a long silence, but none of the senators asked what he meant by that remark. Senator John Sparkman (D-Ala.) changed the subject by inquiring about the budget.

"Do you think you can do any large-scale cutting on the military budget?" asked the 1952 Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

"I have high hopes," declared Wilson. "My goal is upwards of $4,000,000,000 by 1954. But I am not going to do any cutting that jeopardizes the defenses of the country. You can be sure of that."

"That's good news," exclaimed Senator Herbert Lehman (D-N.Y.). "I am delighted to hear you say that. You can count on my support if you will hold to that policy. I'm for economy, but not at the expense of the safety of our nation."

Getting Hot — Senator Wayne Morse not only has shifted his seat from the Republican side, but he has stopped talking to one of his former party colleagues. How far the truculent Oregonian will go next is unpredictable. But on the basis of the scorching letter he wrote the erstwhile colleague, it is conceivable Morse might start swinging his fists.

The Senate has been called the "most exclusive club in the world." There is nothing remotely clubby about the letter Morse wrote to Senator Irving Ives (R-N.Y.) about never talking to him again. Following are the highlights of this unusual senatorial missive:

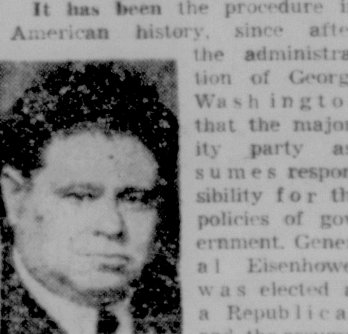

"Your conduct on the floor of the Senate was so incompatible with the quality of the man that I thought you were, that I am compelled to tell you that I will never converse with you again."

George Sokolsky Says...

Civil Service Hold Overs Are Policy Makers In Eisenhower Administration

The Bohlen Aftermath

It has been the procedure in American history, since after the administration of George Washington that the majority party assumes responsibility for the policies of government. General Eisenhower was elected as a Republican and the assumption is that Republican policies will prevail and that all policy-making positions will be held by Republicans.

President Harry Truman so fixed things, while he was President, that many policy-making positions were folded into the Civil Service, which means that although Eisenhower is actually President, he is not in command of the Administration. It is estimated that about 1500 opponents of his party, his policies and his Administration hold key positions of government in which they can delay, if not stymie, the reforms that are essential to his success in office.

The change in these positions should have been made immediately, but were delayed over a fear of being accused of re-introducing the spoils system. This is nonsense because what is actually involved is the efficient administration of government. The appointment of the Rockefeller Committee has served only to delay changes in personnel along lines that are customary and practical.

In the State Department the situation is particularly bad because the Marshall-Acheson elements there are long entrenched.

They have a vested interest in protecting the reputations of Roosevelt, Truman, Marshall and Acheson. What it amounts to is that they continue to pursue the policy of covering up tragic blunders so that the American people will not know what was done in their name. The Republican Party pledged itself at its national convention to eliminate these elements from government.

When John Foster Dulles was appointed Secretary of State, he gave every indication that he would clean up the State Department. He even cooperated with the McCarthy Committee. He appointed Scott McLeod as the Secretary of State. He appointed an advisory committee of eminent foreign service officers. Hugh C. Brown, Norman Armour and Joseph C. Grew, to advise on appointments to foreign service posts. No better men could have been chosen, but from their purview were taken such posts as Moscow, Paris, Rome and London. I am reliably informed that this committee did not pass on the appointment of Charles E. Bohlen to Moscow. The controversy in the Senate on this subject between Senator McCarthy and Senator Knowland did not include, as a statement of fact, that this committee endorsed Bohlen for the Moscow post, nor was the letter which Senator Knowland showed ever put in the record. My own investigations show that Bohlen was never recommended by this committee for the Moscow post and it was not asked to. The reasons for the objections to Bohlen have not truthfully been made public. Everybody skirts the subject with fanciful language. Dulles's defense that Bohlen would have nothing to do with policy was, of itself, condemnatory. The implication must be that were it a policy position, he would not have been appointed. The only other attempt at defense was that what was in the FBI file is not substantiated by evidence.

The Bohlen Case is only important because it achieved an open breach in the Republican Party. The unanimous vote in the committee did not reflect a unanimous opinion. The Republicans felt that they preferred not to embarrass the President on this issue. The Constitution, however, provides that the Senate advise and consent to such appointments. The risk of an open break is politically great, because in 1954 the Republicans can lose control of the Senate. Some of them already feel that it would be preferable if the Democrats were in the majority there, as they feel the Democrats actually are in control.

Unless during the next three months the Republicans find a way to assume management of the Administration and particularly to rid the State Department of Acheson influences, they will not be in charge of the Administration.

Bohlen is no better or worse than many others in the State Department. He has the advantage of knowing Russian and has had a wide experience as the interpreter for Roosevelt and Truman. The actual target is the Acheson gang, and that target is likely to remain because the Republicans made an issue of Acheson while he was in office. They dare not evade this issue politically. Many of them feel that the continuance of Acheson men in office is a repudiation of their pledges.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Sir Walter Raleigh would probably have turned over in his grave could he have seen the picture that recently appeared in the newspapers.

It was headed "And Nobody Helped The Queen." It showed Queen Elizabeth of England removing her royal hat at Albert Hall, while her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, and Dirk U. Stikker, Dutch Ambassador to Britain, calmly sat back and looked on.

What a difference from those days when Sir Walter spread his coat on the muddy street so that the first Elizabeth might not get her tootsies wet!

However, we needn't be particularly concerned about this great change in customs and courtesies. Many a time I have seen men studiously reading their newspapers or making believe that they were short-sighted when a lady entered the crowded subway and had to perform acrobatics hanging on a strap.

In the first Elizabeth's days men had TIME to be courteous. Women were still the weaker sex. And there were no surly subway employees slamming the doors into people's faces and poking them in the back with their knees to make room for one more.

I have just heard that there is a bill before Congress giving equal rights to women. One congressman told a newspaper reporter that there were still too many limitations to women's rights, and that this bill is designed to eliminate these limitations.

The Congresswoman, named one example, in Michigan, she said, no woman can have her hair cut unless she gets her husband's permission.

"And no man will permit his wife to have her hair cut," she added. "Thus, if a Michigan woman goes to the beauty shop and gets clipped, she commits a crime in that state."

This just shows you that even a Congressman doesn't know everything. Only this morning I told my wife please to have her hair bobbed again. She has let it grow long, and I don't like it.

A Stamford, Conn., woman has sued her husband for divorce on the grounds that he humiliated her.

She claimed that he swore at her constantly in public. That was bad enough. In addition, she said, he insisted on discussing art, music and kindred subjects with her, when she was not at all interested nor well versed in those subjects.

I don't know yet whether the judge is going to give her the divorce. If he does, there is something new here under the sun. If a man can make himself liable to divorce because he discusses art and music with his wife, things have come to a pretty pass.

Although, of course, I doubt that one man in a million talks art and music with his wife. The usual subjects, it seems to me, are "what's going to be for dinner?" and the kids.

Here is a household hint: If any of you girls have not found a husband as yet, you might go to Australia, South Africa, India, Pakistan or the Philippines Islands. These, according to insurance statistics, are the only countries where males outnumber females.

But it's pretty muddy in those countries — and I don't think you'll find any Sir Walter Raleighs there.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

The Broadway Lights

Curtain-Time: Broadway had a First-Night famine but Philly had a Feast at Cole Porter's "Can-

Can," a merry new musical. Variety's foreign correspondent was jubilant. "This one," he noted, "ought to be something exceptional." Philly observers concurred. . . . The Rex Harrison - Lilli Palmer opus, "The Love of Four Colonnels," repaid its backers in 9 weeks, despite mixed notices. Certifying the marquee power of its stars. . . . About a dozen new attractions will bloom in the Broadway garden during Spring. . . . Although "On Borrowed Time" and "Porgy and Bess" attracted sugary notices the box-offices suffered. . . . There are 27 shows on Broadway with only two empty temples. Many will vanish before Summer. . . . "Camino Real" is not expected to linger much longer. . . . "Picnic" and "The 5th Season" were within $1,000 of joining the Golden Circle. . . . With Ty Power, Raymond Massey, Roz Russell, Mark Stevens and Vicki Cummings clicking on the Big Town stage, Broadway is more popular with Hollywood stars than Reno.

In the Wings: The story about the drama critic being barred from a Hartford theatre reminded New Yorkers that Broadway critics haven't been barred for years. . . . "Good Thing, too," chuckled a columnist. "What would George Jean Nathan ever do with all that spare time?" . . . Variety will devote an entire issue to Joe E. Lewis' 30th Anniversary in showbiz. . . . We presume his best friends are taking ads in it. 3 Feathers, 4 Roses, Dewar's, Canadian Club, etc.

The Cinenagles: Rita Hayworth (The Queen of Hearts) is perfectly cast as the Biblical bewitcher in "Salome," a dazzling pageant. . . . "Desperate Search" is hardly worth sleeping through. . . . "Penny Princess" is a British whimsy. . . . "Call Me Madam" has Ethel Merman guaranteeing the melodious lappafaozza. . . . "By the Light of the Silvery Moon" is brightened by Doris Day's stardust. Gus Edwards' title tune still tinkles prettily. . . . "The Naked Spur" is superior saddle-fiddle. Jimmy Stewart plays the sharp-shooting daredevil and Janet Leigh's curvy ammunition acts to please.

Stairway to the Stars: Ginger Rogers wants to dwell in Paree but her French husband prefers Melancholydow. . . . They are calling Jackie Gleason "Mr. Saturday Night" along Tevye Row. Because he single-handedly killed his competition, the name-studded "All Star Revue" . . . Helen (Wotta) Gallagher, star of "Hazel Flagg," has had a hair-do created in her honor, by heck. . . . Russ Russell posed for a total of 19 hours for Chaiapin's portrait on the current cover of Time. (The finest time since Gruen began the new ITraction at the St. Regis. . . . It says here Donald O'Connor, 27, has trouped 25 years. Wasted 2 years of his life. . . . It's about time Jack E. Leonard is in Hollywood. He's so Fatigogenic. . . . Starlet Elaine Stewart (such a face on last week's Life cover) confessed: "My big romance is my work." Look, Grl, a Career is never so much fun as a Career.

The Television Set: Sonja Henie's frosted vaudeville enhanced "All Star Revue." The topper was the hula-hula lulu "The Broadway Theatre" exhumed a riotous 39-year-old relic titled "Kick-In." It showed every wrinkle. The sole asset was Jean Carson's portrait of a Boozie-doozy. . . . There are clues all over the dial but many crime-busters are proving Boredom Doesn't Pay. . . . The Academy Award program was burdened by eight windy commercials. . . . Jack Benny's Jekyll-Hyde, travesty was a good idea that failed to click. More foolish than funny. . . . Ferrante & Teicher's "Beezwax" is honey on a Columbia platter. . . . Bill Silbert is bigger on radio than tv—where he made his start. . . . Ed Herlihy's Sabbath a.m. show, "Children's Hour," is for kids of all ages. . . . Arthur Van Horn's "Time Capsule" conducting an ABClick, is so good. . . . That lovely blonde talent scout on Godfrey's show! Whodat?

The Press-Box: Tito's big Hello in London was deftly nuthshelled by an Englishwoman's dissent: "It's a mutual admiration society but neither side has any illusions about the other" . . .

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Some such feeling it must have been on the original Palm Sunday the houses of worship thronged for the holidays, the sun warm and the grass green, and everybody in a holiday mood.

Relatives coming home for the weekend—the streets filled with strangers all in their best. The choirs, practicing for weeks, out-doing themselves.

Just the sort of day to follow after the Man-of-the-Hour to join the Hosannah's, and wave palm branches through the springtime streets.

The trouble is that the people who cried hosannah that Sunday were busy through the coming week—seeing that everything was in ready for the climax of the week of rejoicing—that the youngsters all had fresh robes to wear, that there were new sandals for all the family, and the larders were filled for the expected company.

They were so busy they never even knew of the furor in the market place. Never raised their voices when the mob was making his choice.

And who are we to criticize? Just how are we managing it differently?

Paradise PTA Achieves 100% Membership

Swiftwater — The interest in the entertainment and the business of the program of the Paradise PTA was evidenced by the good attendance at the meeting at the school here, Monday night.

After the opening devotions, the various reports of committees were given. Mrs. Mabel Neiring, membership chairman, reported that the goal of 100 per cent membership has been achieved, representing 138 names. A report was given on the recent bake sale held at the National Drug Company, which netted them a sum of $61, which will be used to fix up the tables in the lunch room. Mrs. Niering and Mrs. Carl Lillius, who were appointed to consider equipment for the playground, reported that they had obtained permission from the school board to purchase a merry-go-round, and they will be assisted concerning the purchase and setting up of same by Russell Shick and Mr. Manchester.

The school board reported their findings on the financial considerations of a six-six versus an eight-four grade system for the operation of the school, after which a personal opinion vote was taken, to further enable them to make their decision at their next meeting, April 6.

Mrs. Merle Stevenson, a former president of the Paradise PTA, will present a special program at the next meeting on April 27, at the school.

The first and second grades presented an interesting program, which included a song, "Wise Bird" by the first-graders; a play, "Little Red Hen" by the first grade; several recitations, and an exercise, also by the first grade, "The Easter Visitor". Following this, the second grade gave a play entitled, "Little Boy Blue".

Rev. C. F. Spangenberg addressed the assembled members with talk, "The Children Come First".

The prize for parent attendance went to the second and third graders, taught by Mrs. McCoy.

There were about 1,000 Moslems living in Washington, D. C., in 1952.

Never have I seen a more amiable pup than the butter-fat black and white cocker, now attracting the chuckles and admiration of visiting throngs in our center aisle. L'il Honeybun is about as cute a pooch as ever had the opportunity to qualify for the title "man's best friend"—and it's going to be a bleak day when she leaves to take up her private life in the home of some lucky Wyckoff customer.

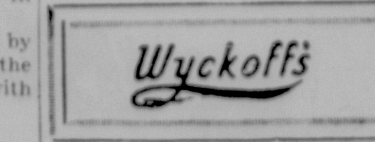

Ever since the news of the puppy naming contest broke on Friday in the newspaper and over the air, dozens of shoppers have visited the store to peek at her, and decide upon some trick, catchy title particularly suited to her sunny, lively personality.

Many pups, barely eight weeks old, might have resented all the excitement. But not our Honeybun. Her stubby little wagged constantly, and she fairly wriggled out of her delightfully spotted skin, everyone another voice or another finger beckoned. She took so many "curtain calls" on Friday, as a matter of fact, that she was completely exhausted Saturday morning, and dozed so soundly it was thought wise to put a wire around the lower part of her cage so she'd have a bit more privacy. Willing as she herself may be, it's pretty obvious that too many tumbles under the chin, can be pretty doggone tiring.

Saturday was exhausting too... and long before the nine o'clock closing hour, the cute little lady had sprawled out nonchalantly at the far side of her cage, way away from the "aahing" crowds, the rubber ball and pipe, to get some rest. It was only with the greatest reluctance that she stirred in answer to Holt Wyckoff's call and permitted herself to be taken away for the weekend.

It's a strange thing what one little puppy can do to make the world a better place. There's hardly anyone working in the store, from the third floor office girls right down into the Sears basement, who doesn't pay an occasional visit to the circus wagon, to see how the pup is faring. And, weary as everyone was at the close of Saturday, there were quite a number who lingered to see L'il Honeybun lifted out of her cage—and smile, as she waddled down the aisle in sleepy exploration.

Thinking back to all the cooing and crooning of Saturday... the excitement and interest shown by persons of all ages... I'm inclined to say that one sad-eyed, inquisitive, good-natured baby animal, can do more good in a few brief hours than a lot of human beings bother to do in a lifetime. The lucky person who succeeds in naming our Wyckoff puppy, will be winning a fortune in affection, humor, and loyalty. "L'il Honeybun" (my own "petagreed" name for her) has a pedigree a mile long—and papers to prove it. I only wish there were papers to prove that the winner will love, honor and cherish her in the manner such a sweet little lady deserves.

The next time you get an urge to tinker with the complexities of your TV set—Don't!
To properly understand the service problems of television and know how to rectify them requires a large assortment of testing equipment, training and just plain "know-how."

Most Modern Fur Storage, Dry Cleaning Plant Is Operated Here By Hintze

Did you know that one of the East's most modern fur storage and dry cleaning plants is literally "right in your own back yard"? It's the Hintze plant, located next to the Bell Telephone Co. on S. Seventh St. in Stroudsburg.

Completed in 1946 by E. Elwood Hintze, the plant is almost unique for an area of this size. Its extensive facilities and plan of operations attracted nationwide attention here.

Because Mr. Hintze included a huge $25,000 cold storage vault in his business plans, the National Cleaner & Dryers' trade publication, reported: "Tail Wags Dog . . . Pennsylvania Dry Cleaner Emphasizes Storage".

This storage vault has become a prominent part of Mr. Hintze's business. It offers unprecedented service to the people of this area. It offers unparalleled protection to valuable garments . . . and most important, a customer's things are as near as the telephone when stored in the Hintze vault.

The vault is 40 by 40 and accommodates 6,000 garments. In the first year of operation it also housed 400 rugs, including 83 expensive orientals valued at $40,000.

Storage fees at the Hintze plant are fixed on a 12-month basis. A customer who places a garment in the vault may store it for a full year without accruing extra charges. "No driver ever withdraws a coat from storage," Mr. Hintze emphasizes, "except on request of the patron."

Within the vault a cooling element, controlled by a humidistat and a thermostat, limits humidity to 50 per cent and maintains a constant temperature at 55 degrees.

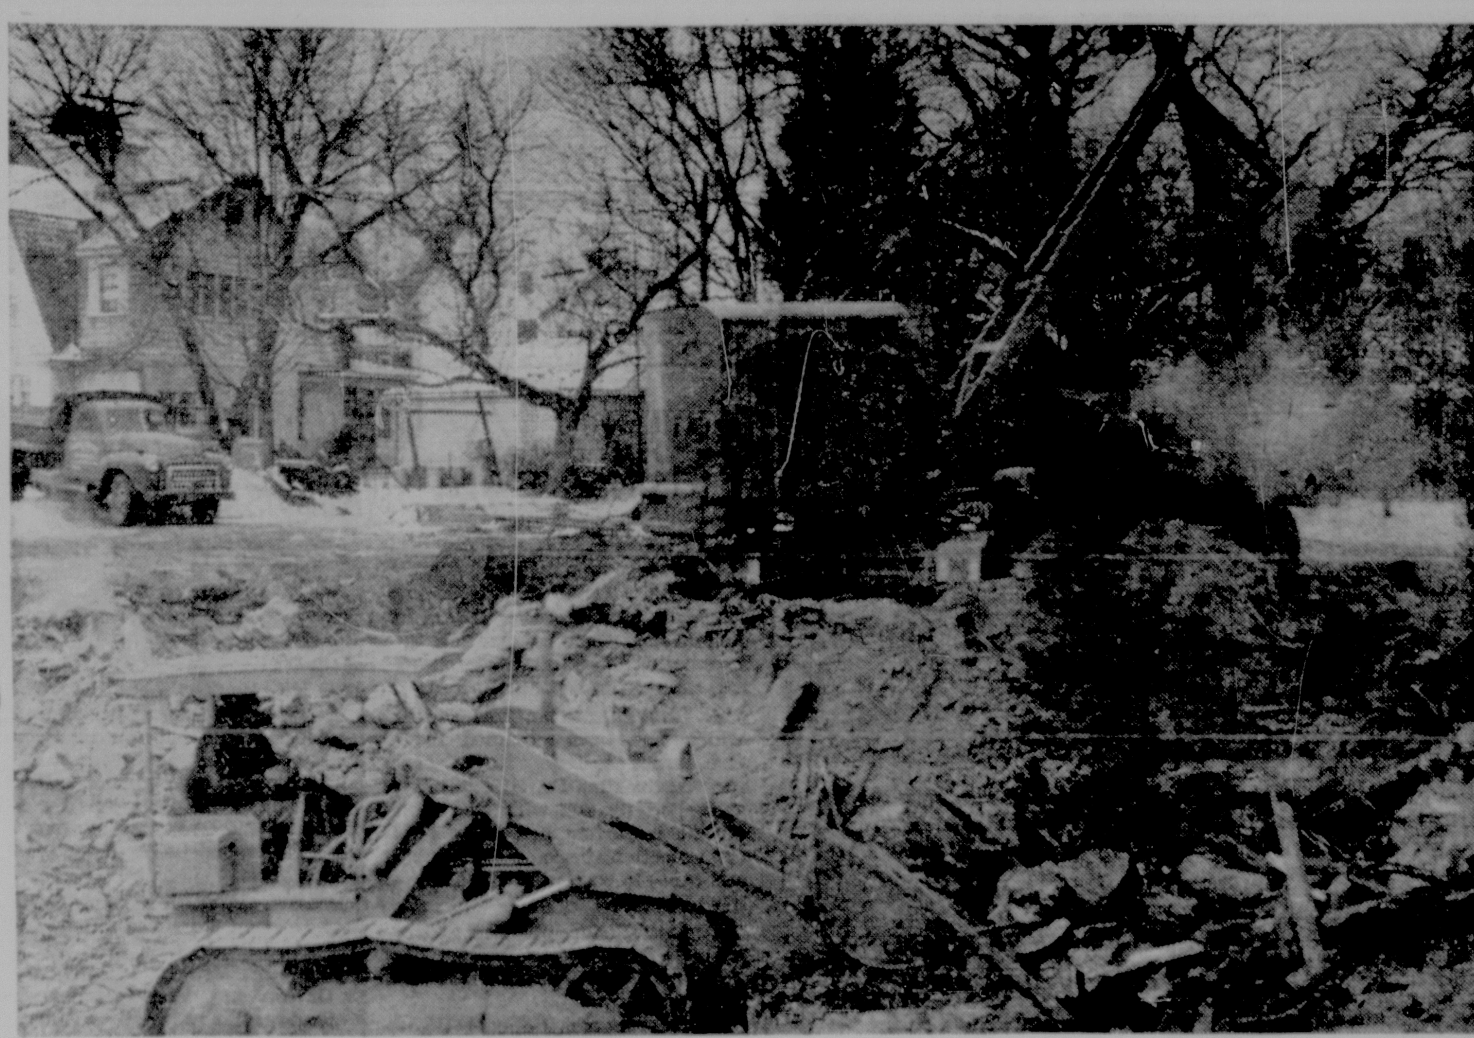

Air is distributed by a vent which runs down the center aisle. Although all garments are treated in the fumigation chamber before being placed in storage, two elements within the vault permit additional fumigation during the storage season.

Besides a daily check of the control panel, Mr. Hintze also conducts a regular inspection of garments in the vault.

Action On Dance Tickets Asked

Members of Monroe County Retail Liquor Dealers Association were urged last night to "get their reservations for the first annual dinner-dance" in the mail not later than Tuesday, March 31.

Urgent request for prompt action among dealers was made by Mrs. James B. Smith, secretary-treasurer in charge of reservations for the dinner which will be held Monday, April 20, at the Penn-Stroud.

CONSTRUCTION OR DEMOLITION? It's hard to tell from this picture, but from this pile of rubble a new building will eventually rise from the ground. Pardee Place workers are shown here completing the excavation work. Mr. Place, local contracting engineer of East Stroudsburg, urges anyone planning any excavation or grading work, whether for home, business property or roads, to have the work done as soon as possible. Spring rains will make it necessary for such work to be booked early. Mr. Place is equipped to do any shovel or crane work. Bulldozers are available for light and heavy work. His equipment includes trenching machines for digging certain types of foundations and for laying all types of pipe line. Mr. Place is also equipped with all size trucks for hauling anything, whether it be top soil, shale, fill, or general material. Phone Stroudsburg 1758. Mr. Place is prepared to give prompt estimates and schedule any type of work.

Battery Test Is Necessary

The one test of a battery is in engine "kick-off." Walker's Auto Electric Service reminds motorists.

The busy housewife gives her home a thorough going-over in the Spring, and the wise motorist should do the same. Winter can rob your car of much of its former "zip" . . . and it usually does.

Winter makes the careless motorist a sitting duck for an expensive repair bill. A little caution in the Spring, when the danger signals begin to show, will alleviate this danger in the beginning.

The electrical system in your car has had to carry a double load all winter. Now is a good time to have it checked.

How long to you hold the starter button before your engine "kicks off"? If it's more than three seconds, be warned that it's time to check the battery and ignition system.

Walker's are skilled specialists in this department and will do the job for you quickly and efficiently. Walker's also specialize in carburetor repairs and offer pick-up and delivery service.

Spain Taking Toll Of Income From American Tourists; Europe No Travel Paradise

(Following is the twenty-fifth of a series of travel articles written by Ruth Haller Ottaway, mother of James H. Ottaway, publisher of The Daily Record.)

By Ruth Haller Ottaway

Barcelona—You can depend on the good old S. S. Saturnia not to keep schedule. We dashed to Genoa on the Express Train (which stopped at every resort hotel on the Italian Riviera) to be there the night before our sailing. Braving the coldest of winds and rain, we were finally imprisoned in a small room at a large price in Genoa.

Thanks to our "artistic" guide of a previous visit, we like Genoa.

This unhappy night was no lure to return. The next day we rushed to our good, old ship, got settled for a one night run to Barcelona only to hear the loud-speaker assure us that the Saturnia would sail the next morning at eight!

Good thing that this ship is about to have a million dollar face-lifting.

It is no fun to arrive anywhere at 8 a.m., but to appear at dawn in the Barcelona customs pier with a nest of shrieking Spanish wharf-rats clawing your bags is a nightmare. We were the only first class passengers to disembark and consequently were the center of attention. They not only unlocked our bags for us, these porters, but opened them.

When one smart one spied the cigarettes he screamed that he couldn't shut the bag. Signor must take two packages out and put them in his pocket. Dashed. Signor did, quite unnecessarily. Then began the overcharging that never ceased in Spain. "You pay $1 a bag in New York. You pay here."

Infuriated, we said, "What is the extra charge?" "The customs officer must have something." Shocking to us, but an official in Spain stands on no ceremony, but on pesetas!

When we stepped into the taxi, the over attentive brigand said to give him the cigarettes. "No. Why?" It became clear why. He would call douane (customs) and say that we cheated and didn't declare them.

To get away from the howling and further argument, he got the cigarettes, and we went off.

We should have been inspired by the one hundred foot high Christopher Columbus monument in the harbor and thrilled that we had at last arrived in Spain. We had reason to be glad later. But we learned very soon that Spain is taking its toll of American income.

On every taxi fare you add ten percent for the government, and the driver sets the fare up every chance he gets. In a so-called luxury hotel, you pay a high tax, and in a more modest hotel, you are in another tax bracket—the old "soak-the-rich" idea.

The hotels charge American prices while paying their help pitifully. You buy nothing at the Spanish price, everything carries tax stamps, and you often find the tax doubling the price.

We were amused in one hotel to hear an American woman express her disgust at a charge of eight pesetas (20c) on her hotel bill for two glasses. "I tipped the waiter. Why this charge?" "That is our charge for the use of glasses, Madam." They miss no tricks.

Nowhere in Europe or in England is there an American travel paradise. But Americans keep coming and keep paying. They have only to stay away to bring down prices, but try to reserve a place on ship or plane out of the United States. You will find it more than difficult. The travel to Spain increased one hundred percent this year over last, and they expect a similar increase next year.

Greene-Dreher-Sterling FFA Banquet One Of Oldest Affairs Of Its Kind In State

Newfoundland—Over 200 Greene-Dreher-Sterling high school students, their fathers and guests, attended the 25th annual Father and Son banquet in the high school auditorium here.

Sponsored by the Greene-Dreher-Sterling chapter of the Future Farmers of America, the banquet is the oldest of its kind in Pennsylvania. Begun in 1928 under the guidance of Wilmer Frisbie, then agriculture instructor at the school and at present vocational agriculture supervisor for Monroe and Northampton counties, the event has enjoyed a quarter of a century of uninterrupted progress.

Guest speaker was James Ruthertford, Wayne County attorney and nationally-known poultry fancier and exhibitor, who urged the young farmers to be "masters of your fate despite the seemingly insurmountable handicaps you will be called on to face in the world you will soon be going into."

Student speakers, Scot Brown and Harry Schoenagel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schoenagel, Greentown, was honored as chapter "sweetheart," the girl voted as the outstanding school citizen with a farm background.

Harry Schoenagel, vice president of the chapter, made this presentation as well as awarding honorary chapter farmer degrees to Isaac Martin and Fred McLean, operators of Floodwater Farm.

A gold medal award in dairy herd records was presented to George Uhl by Joseph Parks, vocational agriculture supervisor for Wayne County. Uhl's records were among 10 best submitted in a state-wide contest.

Uhl also won $100 from the First National Bank of Newfoundland for excellence in record-keeping. The award, to be used for the purchase of a pure-bred calf, was presented by Elmer Daniels, bank cashier.

Other award winners were: Robert Cron, for the best show work, a watch presented by Weldon Hector; Larry McLean, best poultry project, 100 baby chicks from Blumer Brothers hatchery, Moscow, presentation by Clayton Northrup, the school's vocational agriculture head and chapter advisor.

Other speakers were V. A. Martin, advisor, agriculture education, Pennsylvania Department of public instruction and Homer Gilpin, president of the Greene-Dreher-Sterling joint board of education. Rev. Harry Roof, South Sterling Methodist charge, gave the invocation and benediction.

Master of ceremonies was the chapter president, Raymond Phillips. William Lee was toastmaster, Arthur Frey, songleader and Larry Beischer, accompanist. The high school band, under the direction of John Strupewski, played a short concert prior to the banquet.

The meal was served by the home economics department of the school, under the supervision of Miss Florence Grimm.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Steve Honzo, a top flight official who works many games in Monroe County annually during basketball season, was one of the whistle-tooters in Saturday's PIAA championship contest between Sharon and Yeadon, at Penn's Palestra. Steve also worked the Bethlehem-St. Basil title for Pennsylvania Catholic class "B" honors on Friday. Being awarded games of outstanding importance such as those mentioned above is a fine tribute to the Palmerton resident.

This column for the past two years has been billing Honzo as the best basketball official in eastern Pennsylvania and certainly one of the best in the country. The fact that he worked two state championship games in as many days certainly goes a long way in backing up this column's opinion as far as Honzo is concerned. In addition to working games in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, Honzo is a frequent visitor to Mt. Pocono.

Ken Loeffler, La Salle College basketball coach, the gentleman who will direct the court portion of the Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches Association clinic at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College in June, was among the large turnout of fans that saw Yeadon become the first class "B" high school to win the class "A" state PIAA title. Yeadon took advantage of Sharon's poor shooting ability to land a 55-43 victory.

Sharon at times appeared to be the better of the two teams, working the ball and passing like a college five on occasions. Yet, when it came time to score points the western Pennsylvania contingent couldn't find the hoop with radar. Sharon was particularly terrible from the foul line. Joe Shea, a tackle on the East Stroudsburg High football team last season, appears destined to win an appointment to West Point, despite the fact that the likeable lineman spent last weekend at Yale.

Sharon Peechotka, former basketball and baseball star at Pocono High, received his discharge from the Army just in time to return to the Tannersville lineup in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League. Sharon just finished two years of service with the Army, much of which was spent overseas. Jim "Buck" Freeman, former Scranton University basketball coach, is now mentor of the Ithaca College basketball squad.

Allentown's Salvation Army cage machine won the championship in the Edwards Memorial Basketball Tournament at the Freeland, Pa., YMCA. The Salvation Army club took the measure of Mahanoy City in the final round, 88-78. This is the same Mahanoy City contingent that eliminated Frank's Barbers, East Stroudsburg, in first round play. LeRoy Katz, former Muhlenberg College star, chose the Freeland tournament over the Monroe County YMCA Elimination. Katz was reportedly supposed to play with Newman's club in the Monroe County action, but wasn't on hand for the opening game.

Gene Caskie, former Stroudsburg High basketball and baseball star, was in Stroudsburg over the weekend. Gene is now a resident of Philadelphia. Approximately 2500 Little Leagues will operate in the United States during the coming baseball campaign. Locally we have four such circuits. The Pocono Mountains Little League, Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and Bangor. Major league diamond clubs will be returning players to the minor leagues in bundles during the next two weeks.

Semi-Final Basketball Wars Open On YMCA Court Today

Semi-final round action in the Monroe County YMCA Elimination Basketball Tournament gets underway today, on the YMCA court. Semi-final round action extends through tomorrow, with the final round listed for Wednesday.

Analomink Certain To Field Team

Analomink—Analomink's baseball team decided that it will operate for sure in the Pocono Mountains League this season at a meeting held here at the home of Dave Beseker last night.

A roster of 16 men was announced and there is a distinct possibility that four or five more players may be added to the list before the 1953 campaign gets underway.

On the roster are Jim Correll and Bob Schomover, veteran campaigners who have been away from the Analomink club for the past year or two. Correll managed the West End A. C. entry in the same league last season.

Supper
The Analomink club also decided to hold another of its famous Ham and Oyster Suppers on Saturday, April 25. The meal will be prepared by the Sebring brothers.

Those in attendance also discussed the possibility of advertising cards.

Indians Crush Giants, 15-3

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians crushed the New York Giants, 15-3, yesterday to close out the Arizona phase of the training grind for both clubs. They boarded a train immediately after the game for their annual two-week journey eastward together.

Homers
Homers by Luke Easter and Jim Hegan paced a savage 17-hit Cleveland attack. Each connected with one on in the seventh inning at the expense of Giant knuckleball ace Hoyt Wilhelm.

Four Matches Stated

Four matches are on the agenda of the Dave Schmidt Memorial League today, at the Pocono Bowling Center, at 7 p.m.
Alleys one and two—Baylor's Esso vs. Helen, Inc.
Alleys three and four—Shoemaker's Signs vs. Fabel's Gulf.
Alleys five and six—Stroudsburg Engine Works vs. E. S. Hardware.

Pen Argyl Captures Court Title At Oxford

Barrett Winds Up Play In Fourth Place

Oxford, N. J.—Pen Argyl rolled up 100 points in winning the Lions Club Invitation Basketball Tournament here at Central School on Saturday, with a 100-75 decision over a Harmony club that wasn't expected to advance beyond the opening round.

The host club, Oxford, won third place honors by taking the measure of Barrett, 61-58, in a hotly contested opening battle.

Jack Morris led Pen Argyl to its third straight tournament victory by scoring 28 points.

Pen Argyl held the upper hand from start to finish, although Harmony trailed by only five points at the end of the first period and had the better of the going in the third stanza, 23-21.

Harmony trailed 45-33 at half-time and Pen Argyl took all out of the game with a 34-19 advantage during the final 10 minutes of action.

Barrett used a strong second half spurt to pull within three points of Oxford at the final whistle.

Stacy Bruden, Harmony forward, was named the outstanding player in the tournament by a three-man committee. Bruden, who tallied 47 points in the tournament, was particularly brilliant against Pen Argyl.

Phillies Gain Nod Over A's, 10-6

Clearwater, Fla. (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies defeated their American League inter-city rivals, the Philadelphia Athletics, 10-6, yesterday despite two homers by Elmer Valo of the A's.

Rough Start
Steve Ridzik, after giving up four runs and five hits in the first inning, continued until the eighth when he gave way to rookie Bob Greenwood, victim of the A's final run in the ninth. Valo's homers came in the first and fifth.

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—In a renewal of their World Series strife, the Brooklyn Dodgers nipped the New York Yankees 1-0, yesterday.

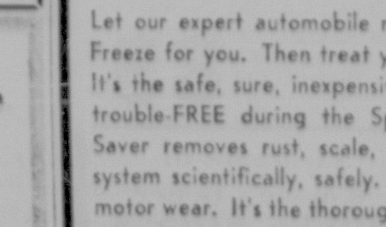

Johnny Podres, 20-year old left-hander who is still on the Dodgers' Montreal farm club roster, combined with Joe Black for the shut-out. Podres held the champions to four hits in six frames and Black allowed one hit in three innings.

Route
Jim McDonald hurled the first complete game of the training season for the New Yorkers. He held the Brooks to four hits, two of them by George Shuba, the left fielder.

Yeadon Sets PIAA Court Playoff Mark

Philadelphia (AP)—Yeadon High, class "B" in enrollment figures but class "A" in basketball savvy, last night held its first state championship on the strength of the most eye-catching playoff drive in modern PIAA history.

The story-book drive was ended Saturday night with a hard-fought but clearly-earned 55-43 decision over Sharon's western champions in the televised title game at the University of Pennsylvania Palestra.

Ten seconds after the opening tapoff the "Cinderella" club from just outside Philadelphia took a 2-0 lead. They went on from there, never dropping behind the highly-rated Sharon five that had been the mid-season as well as pre-tournament favorite to cop the top prize.

Overlooked
Yeadon had been overlooked by one and all in tournament ratings. "Our height helped but the spirit, will, determination—call it what you will—was the thing that won," summed up Yeadon coach John Naegeli shortly after his boys had carried him from the floor on their shoulders.

Yeadon is a class "B" school with an enrollment of about 330 but has competed in class "A" ranks since the school was opened in 1936. It was the first time in PIAA history that a "B" team had taken the big school crown.

Nation Pays Tribute To Thorpe

Los Angeles, (AP)—Funeral arrangements were being made yesterday for stalwart Jim Thorpe, the Oklahoma Indian who became a veritable colossus in the world of athletics.

Sorrow

Thorpe, 64, died of a heart attack Saturday in his modest trailer in suburban Lomita where he lived with his wife, Patricia. The friendly six-footer, classified by sports writers as an All-Time All-America football player, collapsed while eating dinner.

The news of his death brought words of sorrow and tribute from throughout the nation. Men who played with him and writers who knew him used such words as "incomparable" and "greatest athlete of all times."

One sports writer who knew him in his later years described him as "a heck of a nice guy who didn't have an enemy."

After the glory years for Jim at the early part of the century there were some hard years. Several years ago he was discovered digging ditches. He died in modest circumstances.

Probably for the first time, it drew enough attendance that the contestants will have about half of their expense money returned.

Penn State Wins Mat Honors

State College, (AP)—College wrestling, once a by-product of the winter sports program and monopolized nationally by a few teams in the midlands, is in a fair way to become one of the most popular sports in the East.

The 23rd National Collegiate championships won by the forces of Penn State with 21 points, produced three notable firsts.

It was the first time an eastern team had taken the title won 16 times by Oklahoma A and M and three times by Oklahoma University in 22 previous meets. It also produced the first individual winner from the deep south, heavyweight Dan McNair of Auburn.

Attendance

Probably for the first time, it drew enough attendance that the contestants will have about half of their expense money returned.
